Do You Know Him.

Most editors are familiar with the man who "takes more papers than he can read," and consequently has no use for his local paper. He takes a paper published at Augusta, Maine, which contains all the news about the "Smuggler's Last Cruise," the "Adventures of Big Mose, the Bandit King," etc. And while he is storing his mind with such information, his wife is reading a last year's almanac. But let him get in trouble he rushes to the local paper to help him out, and wants it bad. If his wife or baby dies he wants a column obituary. Yet he is "taking so many papers" that he cannot help his local paper out by subscribing. This is also the same man who wants a fifteen line local put in your paper just to fill up, you know.—Ex.

The Dover girl who expressed so much sympathy for the farmer because of his cold winter job of harvesting his winter wheat, is equal in agricultural knowledge to the Higginsport girl who expressed a desire to see a field of tobacco when it was plugging out. But the Georgetown dame who asked "which cow gives buttermilk?" is entitled to the bakery. And the Russellville Miss who was asked if she ever saw any body milk a cow said: "Oh yes I have. It just tickled me to death to see uncle jerk two of the cows faucets at one time.—Exchange.

Wincheste Court.

Fewer cattle on the market than almost ever before known, and hardly enough sales to justify quotations. About all on hand were sold and more could have been. The best prices were for a few steers, weight 1,810 pounds, which were sold by Allen Dykes, for 4 cents. John McKinney sold a couple of yokes of fair oxen, weight 2,400 and 2,800 pounds, at 8½ cts., and an inferior yoke at $2 40. A large number of sheep and lambs on hand and all sold. Several lots of fair sheep were sold at $2.50 each. Hood Smith sold a lot of lambs at five cents and J. M. Owen bought several lots at the same price. Howard Hampton and John D. Reese bought 240 ewes, wethers and lambs, at $2 50 each and sold them at an advance shortly after. There is a great demand for good mountain ewes to cross with South-down bucks, this cross giving a first rate lamb. Ward Lutes, of Lexington, bought several horses, among them a fancy gelding from John C. Allen for $175.—Winchester Democrat.

A Chicago man wishing to show his patriotism bought a large flag and hoisted it after dark, being so eager to show his new flag early next morning. His neighbors all fell out with him, and he was threatening to move out of the nest of Spanish sympathizers, when a policeman ordered the man to haul down his flag. He had pulled off his coat and was about to fight the whole police force when he noticed the flag was upside down.

Didn't Need Latin.

Over in an Indiana town a young man just from college made a race for city clerk. He was an excellent debater, and while in a certain ward where most of the voters of the town lived on one occasion he concluded he would speak a verve of Latin to just show how much he did know. His opponent went down there the night before the election and made a speech saying he was a plain American and not able to speak Spanish like his opponent, but thought he could manage the office of city clerk. The young college student wasn't a one, two, three when the vote was counted.

A Cynthiana man claims to have invented an ice box that is a wonder. He made a small model and placed a ten-pound cake of ice in it on March 18. It was not opened until a few days ago, when, by actual weight, the ice showed a loss of only two ounces. When the box was opened, there was a fall of about ten degrees in the temperature, and the citizens living in the vicinity were compelled to don their overcoats, and one neighbor became frightened and ordered a load of coal. It is the intention of the inventor to secure a patent and go to manufacturing this wonderful ice box.—Sharpsburg World.

The other day as the big crowd of Kentuckians finished cheering the New York boys and their colonel some wit from New York yelled:

"Who makes good whisky?"

Immediately the answer was made:

"Kentuckians."

Some other northern fellow yelled:

"Where are the prettiest women and the finest horses?"

From hundreds of throats: "in Kentucky!"—Danville Advocate.

We are taught that before the great and notable day of the Lord shall come that there shall be wars and rumors of wars with signs and wonders in the earth. We have the wars and rumors of more to follow, with wonders everywhere, and we hear and read of meteors falling and flashes of light appearing in various parts of the country. It might be well for us to cast up our accounts with the Lord occasionally and see how we stand.—Hazel Green Herald.

Couldn't Bear it Alone.

A young widow put up a costly monument to her late husband, says an exchange, and inscribed upon it the following: "My grief is so great that I can not bear it." A year or so later, however, she married again; feeling a little awkwardness about the inscription, she solved the difficulty by adding one word to it, "alone"

A War-Time Tragedy.

He was an unsuccessful war author and had been vainly trying to induce the bank officials to consent to the renewal of his 90-day note and when he reached home he was sad and low spirited, but he found this little memorandum under his plate:

"John: Please attend to these items at once:

The gas bill is $6 80.

The coal bill is $9 60.

Please give the servants $10 a piece.

Pay the butcher $3.

The groceryman must have $40.

We owe $11 for milk and butter.

If my new dress comes while you are home pay the boy $18.

I believe that is all, for the present. At least, I don't think of anything more just now.

"P. S.—Put $10 under the red handkerchief box on my bureau for me."

He went over the above items carefully and prayerfully, and when he had fully mastered them he penned these lines:

"Molly: I have gone to enlist in the army. It is cowardly to skulk around home when my country needs my services I hope the Lord will take care of you. I can't!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Government Bonds in Demand at Richmond.

Over $30,000 worth of the new issue of Government bonds have been sold in Richmond and Postmaster Willis informs the Register that he has been compelled to order more of the larger denominations. He still has some of the smaller denominations from $20 to $500.—Richmond Register.

L. D. Lewis, of Hyden, was nominated the Democratic candidate for Congress in the eleventh district.

The Court of appeals adjourned last week for the Summer vacation. It will meet again the third Monday in September.

The daily papers are very liberal to the government in giving what they consider of much value to her in this war with Spain—advice.

The West Liberty convention is now a thing of the past and Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick, of Prestonsburg, was renominated for Congress. He received the nomination on the seventeenth ballot.

Estill county's company of volunteers are men of pluck. When Col. Colson wanted to appoint Ethelbert Scott, of Lexington, first Lieutenant instead of Green Miller, of Irvine, elected by the company, it brought forth a vigorous protest. Members of the company say they will be mustered in with the present officers or not at all.

The new revenue stamp tax law which went into effect yesterday, July 1st, in substance is as follows: "Bank check, draft, or certificate of deposit not drawing interest, or order for the payment of any sum of money, drawn upon or issued by any bank, trust company, or any person, companies, or corporations at sight or on demand, two cents."

"Bills of exchange (inland), draft, certificate of deposit drawing interest or order for the payment of any sum of money, otherwise than at sight or on demand or any promissory note except bank notes issued for circulation, and for each renewal of the same, for a sum not exceeding $100, two cents; and for each additional one hundred dollars or fractional part thereof in excess of one hundred dollars, two cents."

"That if any person or persons shall make, sign or issue, or cause to be made signed or issued, any instrument, document or paper of any kind or description whatsoever, without the same being duly stamped for denoting the tax thereby imposed thereon, or without having thereon an adhesive stamp to denote said tax, such person or persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not more than $100 at the discretion of the court, and such instrument, document or paper as aforesaid shall not be competent evidence in any court."

"The question is, will the United States, when peace is signed, withdraw within its old limits, abide by its old traditions, and resist the temptation of empire; or will it accept boldly what the fortunes of war have brought, and turn its face toward a new destiny? The struggle will be long and bitter.

"The opponents of annexation urge that the constitution permits no territory to be incorporated in the Union which cannot become a state. It is replied that America must no longer let George Washington do its thinking for it. It is declared that the country possesses no class of men capable of administering Eastern countries, and that these will merely become the prey of professional politicians. The report is that the necessity of finding such men will compel at last a complete reform of the diplomatic and consular services, and thus deprive the politicians of their old spoils.

"Why," ask the ones, 'should we needlessly entangle ourselves with the European powers, and enter the far Eastern perilous arena?'

"We are already entangled," reply the others; 'our interests are equal to those of England in keeping open the vast markets of China, and England will be overborne and China seized by piecemeals unless we range ourselves alongside her.'

"It will take a great army and navy," say the objectors.

"It is perfectly certain," reply the annexationists, 'that the country has already determined to have a strong navy, and an army such that never again shall we be caught in this disgraceful state of unpreparedness. Having these, therefore, why should we not use them to advance our material interests and the general civilization?'

"Besides," add the annexationists, in conclusion, 'we are called upon to take a place in the world commensurate with our members, our wealth, our strength and our future. Precisely the same councils of timidity and the same warnings of disaster greeted every old accession of territory, and to-day nobody would surrender an inch.'—Exchange.

Nations always go to war for the sake of peace, strange as it may seem.

An old saying has it that when there are no locust blooms there will be very poor corn crops. There were no blooms this year so we can see how much we can depend on the old saying. Corn is very promising so far but the tide may change yet.

Rapid Progress.

This must have been the editor of the Guthrie Blade, published there some years ago. In addressing a village school "down south," of course, a cross-road quill-driver said: The possibilities of progress are great. When they first caught me and brought me to this town I hadn't a shirt on my back. But in two years' time I was wearing shirts with bone collar buttons and it was not long before collars were put on me. Then I climbed into a coat, and only yesterday my good wife said to me: "John, I am going to order cuffs for you with gold buttons." And all this in the short space of ten years.—Exchange.

When spending your money so freely at picnics and on excursion tours, please remember the editor.

Morgan R. Lyle, the clever and accommodating traveling salesman for Kruse and Ballman Wholesale Hardware, Cincinnati, Ohio, was in town yesterday.

Persons who have been industrious and raised a good garden are now eating beans, potatoes, beets, cucumbers etc. The publisher of this paper however, is not so fortunate.

No Editors There.

The Prison Mirror, published in the Minnesota penitentiary, says: "Why is it, that from the first inception of our paper until the present time we have never had an editor to sojourn in our midst. Other professions have been well represented; of preachers we have had enough to furnish subsistence to an African chief for a year; doctors in sufficient numbers to depopulate a State, and enough lawyers to establish a fair sized colony in hades, but editors—not one."

Not Badly Needed.

"Boys with hats on the back of their heads and long hair hanging down their foreheads, and cigarettes and smutty stories in their mouths, are cheaper than old, worn out horses. Nobody wants them at any price. Men will not employ them and girls will not marry them. They are not worth their keeping to anybody and they will not keep themselves. If any boy happens to read this, who answers to this description, let him take a look at himself and do what his conscience says is the best thing to do.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Don't forget to stamp your checks when writing them.

Pete Gentry, of near Richmond, was in town Thursday.

J. H. Dawson made a business trip to Winchester Wednesday.

Quite a number from this place went to Winchester court-day.

Billie Wade, of Levee, Montgomery county, was here Saturday.

The State Baptist Association will be held at Mt. Sterling next year.

Miss Maggie Barnett, of Levee, is the guest of Miss Besse Barnett.

Miss Maud Dawson, of Indian Fields is the guest of her brother, J. W. Dawson.

The market is stocked with fine blackberries. The yield is the largest in years.

Mrs. Lou Breeze, of Dodge, visited relatives at this place Tuesday and Wednesday.

David Hampton, of Pinchem, Clark county, is in this neighborhood looking up sheep for sale.

Two Revenue officers destroyed two moonshine stills last week. One in Magoffin and one in Menifee.

Don't forget that 5 pounds of honey will be appreciated as payment in full for one years subscription to this paper.

The time of the year is here for picnics, excursions and such like. There is the usual number, and they are receiving a good patronage.

J. E. Burgher, Jr. has bought of W. E. Heflin a lot of 100 feet front in the residence portion of town on Main street for fifty dollars.

An association has been formed at Irvine for the purpose of improving the town. Its membership is composed of thirty business men of that place.

Moonshine whisky is said to be sold not far from this place. If this be true we hope the officers will investigate the matter and make the proper arrests.

Mad dogs are alarmingly numerous in many parts of the State. A number of persons and a good deal of stock have been bitten by them.

The Teachers' Institute will be held at the county seat the first week in August. Prof. Troop, of College Hill, will conduct the meeting.

The examination of teachers for certificates was very hard on last examination day. The questions are becoming harder and harder at each examination.

Saturday was the dullest day at this place to be Saturday experienced for some time. The picnic at Irvine is the supposed cause for the unusual dullness.

Irvine has recently been infested with mad dogs. The city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting the running at large of all dogs not muzzled, and all such dogs will be killed by the marshal.

Harry Crawford, of Madison county, passed through town Wednesday with a very nice drove of cattle which he had bought up in various parts of the county. He called them a bunch of "five-hundred the best cattle ever bought in Estill county."

The company of volunteers organized at Irvine by Captain T. Edgar Park will not be mustered into service. Col. Colson wanted to make some changes in the officers which was not agreeable to the members of the company, so they will not muster in at all.

Dave Snowden's residence on Snow creek burned on last Saturday. His wife had made a fire in the kitchen to get dinner and had gone to the spring. The house took fire and was past management when she returned. A child was on the bed in the house. Mrs. Snowden managed to get the child out with the feather bed but this was all saved.

Drowned at Frankfort.
Elbert Park, the seventeen-year-old son of W. D. Park, of Frankfort, was drowned last week. Young Park was in swimming and was seized with cramps. W. D. Park moved to Frankfort from this county several years ago.

Negro Boy Killed at Winchester.
Last Thursday morning Garfield Mason, aged fifteen years was shot and killed by Dock Rome, aged twelve. Both boys are colored. The killing was without a just cause. The young murderer is now in jail and will likely remain there until tried.

Another Appointment.
Collector Yerkes has appointed Millard West, of Lancaster, to be general deputy collector for Jackson, Rockcastle, Madison, Estill and other counties. Mr. West succeeds Capt. Thomas Austin, who was appointed under the Cleveland administration. He assumed the duties of the office July 1st.

The Richmond Pantagraph in its Irvine write-up has the following to say of W. G. Patrick, the cash merchant, who sold goods at this place for three years:

W. G. Patrick dealer in general merchandise, has one of the nicest stocks of goods to be found in Estill county. He has been engaged in the goods business here since January last, and I am informed that since his coming the Waco trade has been reduced because he set out to hold the home custom by making low prices and then advertised the fact. The result is known to all who have stopped to inquire of his business. Mr. Patrick is a native of Estill county, having been reared near Spoutspring. He is an industrious young man and has a paying business. A column advertisement on our Irvine page tells what he is doing for the people of his home town and county.

Many farmers who have come to sell are holding it for sixty cents per bushel.

And it came to pass that after he had advertised his goods there came unto him great multitudes from all the region round about him and did buy of him. And when his competitors saw it they marvelled among themselves, saying: "Verily, verily I say unto you, in this fast age of push and hustle it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to flourish without advertising." Thus endeth the first reading.—Winchester Democrat.
